PART 2: PREPARE FOR A REVOLUTION ... "INHERENT THRIVING" WALKS THE UNIVERSE

Ancient otherworld gateways have been used by indigenous tribes for millennia. It's only now that modern science is discovering their counterpart in wormholes. My first lessons in being a Gatekeeper came from an African shaman-priest named Malidoma Somé, who I studied under for an entire year. Malidoma's tribal elders sent him to America to help save the gateways and the tradition of the Gatekeepers because the modernizing Burkina Faso government was outlawing the rituals and initiation rites of his Dagara tribe, which was highly regarded and highly feared throughout West Africa. Other tribes called them the "Magic People," because of their otherworldly abilities, especially during warring times.

It would be seven years after my shamanic training that I then ran into another form of gateways described and taught by the angelic realm. I wrote two books around this angelic phenomenon, the bestselling On the Wings of Heaven (2000) and The Masters Return (2006). Angelic gateways differ from indigenous gateways in that these gateways are to be open to all. Traditional gateways had to be carefully guarded by Gatekeepers because of forces and energies that could cause problems for our world if they snuck through the gateway. The angelic gateways naturally prohibited these forces from coming through using sacred geometry and specifically patterned vibrations based on color.

Malidoma is no backwoods witchdoctor. His elders made sure to prepare him for our modern world, resulting in his holding two PhDs and three master's degrees. Under his tutelage, I encountered phenomena and worlds I never knew existed. Mind-blowing doesn't even begin to describe it. Because of this awareness, I developed a jaundiced eye toward rampant technology, in spite of being a scientist, myself. I've discovered that when information is controlled and limited by technology, it means subjugation lurks not far away.

Humanity has been misled for thousands of years by institutions that have instilled in us beliefs that tell us we must suffer the consequences of being a flawed people. Nothing could be further from the truth. In my last book, A World Beyond Belief (2012), I document how many of us have become crippled by inculcations of unworthiness and limitedness. Moving beyond such ball-and-chain beliefs is a lot of hard work. Until now.

In "Part 1: Knowledge Is Not Power ... Information Is," I provide a broad overview of the latest discovery in science that has turned our highly technical world upside-down — The Hamein Unified Field Theory. With this Part 2 writing, I hope to set the stage for showing all of us how we eventually turn ourselves right-side-up, and in the process co-create a far better world than this one ruled by fear and suffering.

“INHERENT THRIVING” ... THE GATEWAY OF SHANGRI-LA

We will expand upon the section in Part 1 that dealt with the scientifically false conviction that the universe is ruled by the Law of Entropy. To review, this law roughly states that existence tends towards disorder, randomness, dissipation of energy, and homogeneity. In other words, everything dies. Though many scientists deny its existence, the counterpart to the Law of Entropy is the Law of Syntropy. Loosely stated this law says that existence tends toward order, concentration of energy and matter, and the increase in complexity and growth of structures. In other words, creation rules. Hamein has shown that syntropy feeds the fabric of life because of a fractal network of wormholes. However, before his discovery, the ancients knew of the human ability to access this network of information using what they called gateways.

It was Malidoma who first entrusted me with ancient-based secrets as to how humans could have access to all information. At the time, I remember thinking, “Who is going to believe this stuff?” My initial fear of this not being “normal” might have stopped me from admitting that I knew he was right, however, the reason I eventually knew he was telling the truth occurred when I experienced it myself. In a completely different way.

Malidoma had revealed to me that, while getting his PhD at Sorbonne University, he had made use of the capability to tap into communication with his ancestors. This ability allowed him access to information that they had access to. Thus, if there were times he needed reminding or help in acquiring information, he could rely on this information connection, even while taking an exam. Hamein describes such connecting in his lectures on “The Connected Universe.” Had I not learned from Malidoma, I might never have realized that Hamein was presenting a phenomenon which had far greater implications than even he knew at the time.

My personal revelation about the connected universe (of information) occurred while suffering from an incurable disease. Modern medicine had told me there was nothing I could do except live off hydrocortisone steroids, which ultimately would have amounted to a death sentence. After a great deal of research, I found a psychotherapist specializing in what, at the time, was called the New Psychology. It was while under hypnosis that the first angelic appearance occurred. Not only did the angel tell me the source of the incurable disease but, by giving me that information, caused the disease to leave overnight. In the process, I saw the angel gather what amounted to an encyclopedia of information and collectively stuff it into my brain. Shocked by this, I sat there in awe realizing I could understand all the information at once, leaving me in a reverie. But as soon as I had a single thought, the encyclopedia shattered like a broken mirror into facets of information. It wasn't like I lost the information, it was like the encyclopedia had been turned into hundreds of books that had been filed away on library shelves. Which, it turned out, I could access under certain circumstances. I decided to call this other-dimensional cataloging “My Library.” This was my first exposure to what I now call “Info-Looping.”

In India, Vedic teachings speak of a phenomenon similar to what happened to me called “ritam-bhara pragma,” which some describe as gaining flawless information or the I-know-everything experience or “intellect which accepts only the truth.” This state is typically reached when “your mind is synchronized with the synchronized mind of the universe...” (Deepak Chopra). Chopra might as well be quoting Haremeim. I mention this to hammer home the point that modern physics only now is catching up to the ancients. And to note also that all humanity inherits this “ritam” ability.

In his published paper, “The Unified Spacememory Network: From Cosmogogenesis to Consciousness,” Haremeim illustrates how powerful information feedback exists throughout the universe. He uses a convincing example to counter the current scientific mania with the Law of Entropy (randomness). By using an example of a blind man given a Rubik’s Cube, Haremeim asks how long would it take mathematically for the blind man to solve the puzzle randomly? Well, about 13.7 billion years, which is longer than our universe has existed. So then, Haremeim argues, if it takes that long for a single-purpose mechanism to be resolved, how is it even remotely possible for molecules to randomly create the beginning of life? Conclusion? Life is not random.

By adding a mechanism whereby the blind man is told with every move (1 second per move) that he is closer or further away from solving the puzzle, the time it takes to solve the puzzle changes drastically ... from 13.7 billion years to 2 minutes! Which shows just how astounding information feedback (looping) can be. Haremeim concludes that “there are living processes occurring at all scales of the Universe, and with memory and learning functions of awareness—life and consciousness become intrinsic ubiquitous characteristics, embedded in the very dynamics and mechanics of physical processes of spacetime and thus, the Universe itself.” In other words, the universe is swimming in looping information that actually commands life to flourish. Or as Marshall Lefferts calls it, “inherent thriving.”

THE GATEKEEPERS OF ONENESS

With indigenous gateways, it takes two Gatekeepers, one on each side, to open a gateway. Making sure that only benevolent forces are allowed through. With angelic gateways, any single Gatekeeper has the job of assuring that the gateway remains open to all. To my surprise, while using the phenomenon of Info-Looping, I realized I could access either of these kinds of gateways no matter where I ventured. Physical presence was no longer a requirement.

After years of presenting workshops on these two types of gateways, I became aware of yet a third kind of gateway, which I call “The Gateway of Oneness.” Through a Power-of-8-groups network I helped start throughout the world, I began to experiment with this third gateway. I realized it was a simple matter to show people who were already in a state of Oneness (as required in a Power of 8 session) how to use that Oneness to open this third kind of gateway. In so doing, the restraints of time, location, having 8 people meeting simultaneously, no longer was required. Indeed, by becoming a Gatekeeper of Oneness, anyone from a Power of 8 group could spiritually call in the other seven Gatekeepers of Oneness — who previously had given permission to be spiritually called in — and conduct a Power of 8 session anytime, anywhere, and under any condition.

Much to our surprise, we soon discovered that this form of conducting sessions, which we named “The Gatekeeper Effect,” was even more effective than our scheduled in-person sessions together over Zoom. This point was driven home when a close friend of mine living on the West Coast was suddenly taken ill with toxic shock syndrome and rushed to the hospital. His wife had contacted me to let me know how grave the situation was — his having gone into a coma — asking me to help however I could. Immediately I began conducting Power of 8 sessions using the Gatekeeper Effect. Every free moment of time I had, whether waiting at a stoplight, or muting the TV during commercials, or setting deep and quiet time aside, I summoned the Gatekeepers of Oneness. Within 24 hours he went from death’s door to returning to consciousness. After being released from the hospital and the doctor telling him he may never walk normally again, within another 24 hours he set his crutches aside and started walking gingerly for brief moments. He now walks normally.

It didn’t take long to begin experimenting with our Power of 8 sessions using Info-Looping. If Hara-Mein was correct about his holograph wormhole network, then feedback looping should be a natural restorer of harmony in an environment of Oneness. Instead of starting with intent, each person in the group would center on allowing an info-loop to set up in a Gateway of Oneness. Once the feedback loop begins flowing, then the meditator places intent on top of the flow of information. By so doing, they acquire the ability to re-establish patterns of harmony that can resonate with what we call wellness, or healing. What we soon discovered is that most, if not all, forms of suffering occur when the innate information loops that govern the natural functions of the body, mind, or spirit are blocked.

What convinced me to start spreading this information occurred with an experiment we tried with the Boulder Power of 8 group that involved a colleague who had been diagnosed with terminal leukemia, and given six weeks to live. She contacted me to let me know what had happened and gave us permission to experiment with Info-Looping and the Power of 8. Combining daily sessions using the Gatekeeper Effect and a scheduled in-person session three days later, the very evening after the in-person session, her daily blood result came back. No cancer could be found in the blood. A week later the doctor declared her to be in 100% in remission. These experiments mandate that we take a serious look at Info-Looping and the Power of 8.

CONCLUSION

In “Part 3: How Science Has Been Turned Upside Down & Humanity Right-Side Up – The Secrets of Info-Looping,” (upcoming) we’ll get into a brief explanation of a few of the ways we can allow Info-Looping to connect to us. Needless to say, this a paradigm mind bender, which means it will take a while for folks to get the hang of this. However, if people express an interest, I’m prepared to put together an eight-step training program for those who wish to explore more closely how “your mind is synchronized with the synchronized mind of the universe....”

Info-Looping has the potential to render untold benefit to ourselves and our environment, whether that includes those around us whom we love, or the air, land, and sea, or surrounding ourselves with wellness and prosperity. Truthfully, there is no limit to where we can foster betterment or improvement because the universe itself flows with the resident purpose of providing the fullness of life. It’s why Lafferts calls it “inherent thriving.” We can actually say now based on science that we are meant to thrive. The capacity to thrive is throughout the universe. We have only to recognize that systems and self-made blocks have kept us from remembering this, because thriving was meant from the inception of creation. So let’s get back to the future.

Haramain’s “Connected Universe,” where consciousness reigns throughout the cosmos via a holographic wormhole network, and Chopra’s “synchronized mind of the universe” amount to two sides of the same coin, one side spiritual, the other scientific. The evidence we are seeing in our local Power of 8 groups will need to be explored further and the information shared far and wide. Truthfully, we are witnessing a sea change in conscious awareness, as I pointed out in Part 1. Something inside of me tells me there will be no stopping this tsunami of discovery. The question will arise, will this new discovery teleport us to a world beyond belief or will it crash against the cliffs of resistance, which may ultimately sunder our world? Time to find out.
