

The page features decorative elements including two colorful swirls on the left and right sides, and a large central swirl. Below these are several wavy lines in various colors (red, orange, yellow, green, blue) that span the width of the page.

INFO-LOOPING — A GUIDE

PART 3: HOW SCIENCE HAS BEEN TURNED UPSIDE DOWN & HUMANITY RIGHT-SIDE UP

by GW Hardin

PART 3: HOW SCIENCE HAS BEEN TURNED UPSIDE DOWN & HUMANITY RIGHT-SIDE UP – AN INFO-LOOPING GUIDE

How long are we to be falsely led by the question, “What is the meaning of life?” By assuming that the question even has merit, we place ourselves in a self-made prison of false pursuits. One single visionary can rescue us from such prisons. Joseph Campbell, the renowned mythologist, was such a person. Campbell blatantly stated, “Life has no meaning! Each of us has meaning and we bring it to life. It is a waste to be asking the question when you are the answer.” Ironic that the master of myth has shattered the one monolithic myth regarding life. Meaning.

These constant myth-breaker insights caused George Lucas to borrow from Campbell’s work in the making of the first Star Wars movie, “A New Hope.” Lucas created his famous characters in this groundbreaking movie based on Campbell’s bestselling book, The Hero with a Thousand Faces (New World Library, 2008), resulting in Lucas vaulting into stardom. However, in the sequel, “The Empire Strikes Back,” Lucas neither wrote the storyline nor the script, leaving the new characters in the hands of Hollywood types and typecasting. Campbell lay discarded in the process.

From this abandonment emerged the character of Yoda, the great Jedi mentor. The wisdom of Obi Wan’s words were forsaken by the false memes of Madison Avenue. With Yoda’s most famous quote, “Try not! Do or Do not. There is no try,” we are one step removed from a Nike commercial (“Just Do It”). In fact, the public would have been better served had Lucas plastered a Nike logo across Yoda’s robe. Campbell would never have fostered such a false myth. How do we know it’s false? Because such myth doesn’t match up with the teachings of the Masters. Nor, for that matter, does it align with Hamein’s Unified Field Theory. Interesting that Lucas years later would characterize Campbell as “My Yoda.”

Campbell might instead have fostered a myth that would have led Luke Skywalker into a new truth. Such as, “Resist not! Allow.” We see the bedrock of such a myth from the Buddha: “It is your resistance to ‘what is’ that causes your suffering.” From this, the natural question for most of us is what is ‘what is’?

Why is this Yoda example important? Because, as we now find out, this is not how the universe typically works, nor should it be the way we try to live our lives. “Just Do It,” as a meme, puts us in a mindset of conquering, which implies something to defeat, an enemy or an opposition, something separate from ourselves. The latest in scientific discoveries is repeatedly proving that the universe most often works on the premise of openness, oneness, unification, and syntropy. In Part 2 of “INFO-LOOPING,” we went into depth regarding “Inherent Thriving,” which is designed by the universe to loop information via Hamein’s wormhole network. Which, it turns out, is holographic.

If you are gifted an inheritance, it's a boon. There are no rules or requirements to fulfill. You don't have to DO anything. It's been freely given. You simply have only to accept it. Haremei's theory states not only that we have been given an enormous gift, this theory reveals that we actually have to purposely interfere with receiving that gift not to have it. This gift of limitless information flows everywhere throughout the universe. Yet for some reason we have yielded to outside influences that trick us into thinking we don't deserve this gift, that the gift doesn't actually exist. For if it did, those who dominate us and our world would have no power over us. We are like fish in the sea being asked to become aware of the water. With the fish typically responding, "What water? I don't see any water."

Like Campbell, Haremei has given us the clarion evidence that no matter what the questions, we are the answer. The real question is why are we not seeing the answer? Haremei clearly shows that the universe is awash in information constantly flowing, thus assuring that all of life shall flourish. From this flowing emerges feedback information which allows us access to all knowledge (Part 2) through what I call "Info-Looping." And the first, if not most important requirement for info-looping, is "allowing." Allow this sea of information to flow in and out of your lives. Which requires that life no longer be about conquering or resistance but about immersing ourselves in this massive tide of information here to help us thrive. Our fighting with life turns each of us upside-down in terms of Inherent Thriving. So let us take a glimpse at the components I've experimented with that allow us the entryway into Inherent Thriving using Info-Looping.

WHY SCIENCE IS UPSIDE-DOWN

These days the scientific principle itself is coming into question. Quantum physicists are discovering phenomena that go beyond the constraints of the scientific principle to the point that there is little agreement as to what is being measured and how consciousness influences the reality of measuring. For instance, scientists can't agree on what is intelligence. Neuroscientists can't agree how the brain actually works. Astrophysicists are in a battle over dark matter and dark energy, to the point that a growing number are stating that neither exists. Haremei has shown that the strong force is actually an unobserved version of gravity. Many scientists are calling for a complete rewrite of all scientific texts. And the list grows.

The mathematical evidence of a universe built on Inherent Thriving certainly agrees with age-old teachings of well known Masters, but this evidence has turned the scientific table upside down even to the point where Haremei's theory and Robert Lanza's writings on bio-centrism question the randomness at the heart of quantum mechanics itself. The reason for all this transformational chaos erupts from the latest scientific discoveries out of highly respected labs, not from philosophers and mystics. Many are starting to say that the new mysticism is the newest science. Academia is in an uproar because it simply cannot keep up with what is coming out of research labs around the world. Roughly a dozen to three-dozen noteworthy research papers a day are published. What college professor could possibly keep up with that, and teach courses at the same time?

Admit it. We have reached our limit in absorbing more scientific information, when we can't or won't look at the boundless information available to us within our own minds. Perhaps instead of trying to analyze yet more information, it would do us well to learn how to approach the phenomenon of information itself from a completely new perspective. This is what I am suggesting with Info-Looping.

GATEWAYS INTO ALLOWING ... RESIST NOT 'WHAT IS'

Our experiments with Power of 8 groups show us that drastic changes in reality are possible by overlaying group intention onto Info-Looping. The first step in accomplishing this is to have a Power of 8 group move into Oneness with one another. By moving into Oneness, one automatically has access to the Gateways of Oneness (Part 2). These different gateways are just one technique of allowing the flow of the looping information to move through oneself. Once the mind becomes aware of the flow, then we have the capacity to interact with these feedback loops.

Before each of the 8 opens their Gateway of Oneness, the group agrees on what the intention of the session will be. The second step is to recognize what kind of information we are trying to connect to ('what is'), letting no possibility be blocked. In other words, completely ALLOW. Let the information take whatever course it chooses to take, into whatever avenue of information that delivers "the answer." Because we are in Oneness when this occurs, we become the answer. The Info-Looping has now established itself. We now can interact with that information.

It's at this point that we trust ourselves and the process to then imprint the group intention upon the Info-Looping flow. Which means we provide direction (via intent) to what "the answer" is showing us. For instance, we spoke before in Part 2 about one of our experiments where the focus person the Power of 8 was supporting had been diagnosed with terminal cancer and given 6 weeks to live. As the 8 people moved into Oneness, each began allowing whatever information loop to flow through in response to how best to support this person. In truth, 8 different loops showed up, we found out later. As each of the 8 then brought in the intent, each began to notice patterns of harmony develop in the flow of what they were witnessing. Their job was only to allow, not to analyze or project what they thought might be best. That collective effort ensued for 10 minutes, and then the session closed, using gratitude as the tool of closure. Afterward, each of the 8 then began verbally sharing with the rest what they had seen (thus presenting additional information). The results speak for themselves.

Do you have to use 8 people to accomplish this? No. Through experimenting, we have discovered that there are four basic levels of Info-Looping and several options within each level. What separates these levels is the ability to use different tools to interact with the flow of information. For instance, "paired looping" allows the ability to use integrative dialog, while "group looping" permits greater access to archetypal beings to interact with, such as power animals or archangels. "Gateway looping" allows access to different worlds and different realms of consciousness. These various levels can use anywhere between 1 and 100 people. What this means is that we are only seeing the tip of the Info-Looping iceberg so far.

CONCLUSION

Parts 1, 2, & 3 of "Info-Looping" are an attempt to introduce a far-reaching discovery, to announce not only a revolution in science but a revolution in consciousness, and to begin a process whereby we venture together as a family to more fully embrace the phenomenon of Inherent Thriving that, only now, we recognize as ruling the universe.

In the experiments we have carried out, we've realized that all of life operates on and depends on information. If we choose to enter into or observe that informational flow, we have the capability of re-establishing harmony to life-giving systems, whether that be relationships, mental/emotional/physical conditions, job concerns, life choices/directions, or spiritual pursuit. There is no single way to enter these information loops because these loops exist from the subatomic level to the personal level to the galactic level. No matter what the level, gateways of some kind exist for us call upon Inherent Thriving to flow through our minds, hearts, and souls. New opportunities lie before us with new ways of approaching them.

Lucas and Campbell have provided us with old-myth ways of saving ourselves from eminent destruction. This is called the hero's journey. Hollywood has taken this a step further with super heroes, which we see exploding on movie screens across the world. But there is now another journey, another path that needs no heroes. But to walk this path, we need new myth to give us new stories, new directions as to how we complete this new journey. Instead of trying to vanquish evil, we can surround it with information that completes it, thus transforming it, balancing it. We don't have to conquer it. With cooperating people, information can be more than a flow; it can become a flood. A flood that washes away dualistic separation. Which invites us into the fullness of life by embracing Inherent Thriving. What we need is New Myth. And Info-Looping is a primary source for New Myth.

Chaos rules our planet because chaos must at this time. Mathematically, chaos is the mother of order. Inherent Thriving, put into action through Info-Looping, provides us a new mechanism, a new myth by which we co-create a higher order of life, a greater window to self-empowerment and self-enlightenment, and greater opportunities to thrive. We have only to listen, to allow, and to flow with the universe's magical wonders via information. The time has come for us to show those who have ruled with power that power is empty without wisdom. And wisdom is non-existent without information that we ourselves turn into personal experience. As Joseph Campbell well knew, we are the answers that give meaning to life. Through Info-Looping we become these answers. So I say to you, "Thrive! Allow 'what is.'"

From my heart to yours,
GW

---

GW Hardin is a New York Times bestselling author and mathematician. He specializes in bringing the scientific and etheric worlds together in his writings. He has two websites ... www.gwhardin.com ... www.soundsofwonder.com

Part 1 "The Latest Scientific Discovery & Why It Changes Everything in Your Life"

Part 2 "Prepare for a Revolution ... Inherent Thriving Walks the Universe"

If you'd like to know more about Nassim Hamein's "Boundless Information," click here.

If you are wanting to get up to your elbows in Hamein's messages, take a look at Marshall Lefferts' book, Cosmometry: Exploring the HoloFractal Nature of the Cosmos.